What are decimals?

Today's task for everybody is to create a fact sheet all about decimals.

Imagine if you were an alien and you had just landed on planet earth, if a human was trying to explain and teach you what decimals are, what would they tell you about them?

On your fact sheet/poster about decimals include some examples of what they look like and when you are most likely to see them.

E-mail me some examples of your work and I will share them on the website.

Have a go at creating your own Monet picture or painting. Claude used water lilies in many of his famous pieces of art. Get some inspiration from taking a lovely stroll down by the Canal in the town and have a look at the water Lillies.
