

Visiting Lyme Regis

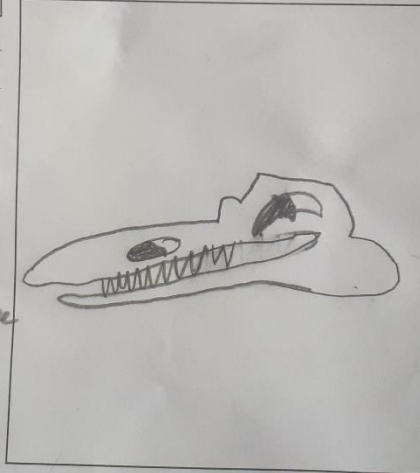

13/05/2020

Lyme Regis is a seaside town in Dorset. This is where a great fossil hunter called Mary Anning lived. She found loads of fossils there.

When Mary Anning found this fossil, she told her brother that 'History began to reveal itself.' She found many more of fossils in the beaches of Lyme Regis. They are some pieces of history below the sand.

This is an Ammonite fossil. This is one of the three types of fossils. The 3 types of fossils are Belemnite, trilobite and this one Ammonite.
