

Reading Activity: Adverbial Phrases

If you have a printer – print, cut, reorder and then stick into your books.

If you haven't a printer, write out the phrases in the correct order.

In stories, we often use adverbial phrases to link the sentences in our story and make it flow. Cut out the sentences and put them in the right order. Cut out the linking phrases. Place them at the front of the sentences to create flow. Decide where to change names to pronouns.

Nasim and Parvaneh ran away, but became separated.

Parvaneh noticed beautiful lights in the sky.

Parvaneh found Nasim with a map. "We need to rescue Dr Phillips!" he said.

she pressed the DEFENCE BUTTON. The men collapsed into a trance.

Parvaneh turned around to see who it was.

Parvaneh saw the two blond men in the doorway.

Nasim and Parvaneh saw lights in the glen.

Parvaneh heard a voice behind her.

Nasim and Parvaneh went closer to have a look.

At once,

Back at the cottage,

Suddenly,

Carefully staying
behind the bushes,

Suddenly scared,

Looking around her,

Horror struck,

A second later,

As they picked their way along,
