

James has really looked after his sisters wellbeing this week. She is doing her mocks at the moment and so she didn't feel lonely he has been a little study buddy and studied with her most evenings, doing his homework while she revises.

As a treat we went to the town park and had a lovely walk around the pond which was good for all of our mental health.

